Cameron Man Among 17 Crewmen of B-36 'Chutes to Safety Near London

FAIRFORD, Eng.—A long-range U. S. Air Force B136—pride of a potential atom bomb fleet—blew up in the air minutes after its 15 crewmen jumped to safety a few miles from the end of a trans-Atlantic flight.

The U. S. Seventh Air Force clamped unusual security restrictions on details. It announced only that the giant bomber was flying with 15 other B-36s from the Carswell Base, Fort Worth, Texas, on a "routine training mission."

Orders to talk were given the crewmen who were rounded up after parachuting into three southern counties—Oxfordshire, Berkshire and Wiltshire—just west of London.

There were indications frantic efforts had been made to put out (See 'Chutes to Safety, back page')

$90 Thousand Suit Ends in Draw Here

After four days of testimony and bitter argument by council for both sides, the 90-odd thousand dollar damage suit between Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Woodum ended Saturday morning in what the lawyers call a "dog-fall," or draw. No damages were awarded to either side.

The whole thing was a result of an accident Dec. 30, 1951 in which cars driven by Mrs. Woodum and Smith were involved. The accident occurred at the intersection of West 13th Street and North Houston Ave.

The charge to the jury contained 81 special issues to be answered in connection with the case. In their answers to these questions, they found that both parties had been negligent and had contributed to the cause of the wreck. Actually, the question of who caused the accident made no difference, because the jury found that neither party was injured as a direct result.

The jury verdict was the climax of four days of trial in which personal lives and troubles were dragged into the open. A judgement still has to be written by District Judge O. D. Graham, but it will mean little, as no damages were assessed on either side.

Council for the Smiths included Emory Camp and D. G. Humble, and for the Woodums, Jack Prescott.

Bill Walker Collects Most of Class' Fund In MOD Campaign.

County, City Poll Tax Payments Announced Lower Than in 1952

A total of 3,825 county poll tax payments were received prior to the deadline Jan. 31, at the office of the Tax Assessor-Collector's office, Vlatar White.

This figure is some three thousand shy of last year's report. This being an off election year, in as far as the county, state democratic primaries are not held might be the reason for the slump in poll tax payments.

There was an urgent appeal made several days before the deadline for tax payers to pay polls this year. There is a great possibility there might be several amendments to be voted on this November from reports and indications from the legislature now in session.

Neomi Needham said that 1,246 city poll taxes were paid at the city hall. This number is around the usual amount paid each year in the city.

Comments From A Pastor

FRIENDSHIP WITH JESUS

Jesus was anxiously desirous that we know our true relationship with Him and understand how close and vital our connection really is. So He said, that we are like a father and son, or the vine and branches, or shepherd and his sheep, and on one particular occasion He said "Ye are my friends." He meant to say that the joy of fellowship of friends was like fellowship with Him and that the same principles and conditions that make friends of people of earth will make friends of those same people with Him.

One way to become friends is to grow up together. Children of the same town and school just naturally grow to be friends. Likewise growing up with Jesus naturally leads to a friendship with Him. Boys and girls thus finding themselves in a life-long friendship may not have ever asked each other to be their friends, but they find they are friends just the same. The church through its Sunday school brings children into a knowledge and companionship with Jesus in their early years and that leads them to grow and develop with Him. As a rule boys and girls who live with Jesus from childhood up make the best friends of Jesus, and best members of His church.

Again sharing life together, either in work or play, or in joy or sorrow, or hardship or comfort, or danger or safety, makes for friendship. Men who work and toil together become friends. Men who suffer and sacrifice together—like soldiers in the war—are led into an abiding friendship. Others who rejoice together, and wind prosperity and success together, naturally become friends. As we join others in a common interest of life, whether it is hard or easy, joyous or sad, the simple fact that we do it together makes us friends. Then we shall likewise become friends of Jesus if we will share our life and work with Him. Going with Him into a mission field, working with Him in building a church or hospital, or orphanage will make us His friends. Dividing the responsibility of educating a poor boy, or clothing an orphan, or doctoring the sick will lead us into friendship with Jesus.

Friendship can't be bought, but is given. We don't require of men that they first give gifts to one another before the be friends, but we do require them to give themselves to help and serve one another in a mutual way. Every friend gives himself to other friends. Jesus gave Himself to us and we must give ourselves to Him.

In a friendship of two individuals the stronger character influences the weaker, and lifts him up to a higher level. Friendship with Jesus means an earthly life will be lifted up and become in part like the heavenly Jesus therefore said, "If I be lifted up, I will draw all men unto me."

Rev. Mark C. Magers,
First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Mittie Klinard who was ill for some time is reported to be resting much better and is able to be up.

Bruise-Proof Indoor Playground

IN THE HOMES of many families with children, the living-room often becomes an indoor playground, at least, until Daddy comes home and takes over the armchair. Thus, the floor takes on the aspects of combination track field and gymnasium. Small knees and elbows can get badly scratched and bruised, the usual cost of a day's play. But, these minor tragedies are not apt to occur if a soft, but sturdy Masland carpeting covers the floor. It takes to rough wear with ease. Especially, if it is a floorcovering made of heavy looped Celcos yarn as is "Carousel" (see above). The little tykes are being told by the kindly man laying their broadloom rug that they can bounce and tumble on it to their heart's content.

TEXAN PARADE

By ROSS PHARES

GETTING MARRIED WAS DIFFICULT IN THE OLD DAYS

During pioneer days getting married was not the simple process of finding a girl who would say "yes." After a guy found the gal, he might realize it harder to get a license, and still more difficult to locate someone to tie the nuptial knot. Texas was a Spanish land when the first Americans came. And there were many proverbial "old Spanish customs" to be complied with—one of them being that couples must be united in wedlock by a Catholic priest—or they weren't united.

Once Americans started flocking into Texas, there were not enough priests to take care of the marriage business. If love and marriage is what makes the world go around—as some philosopher has observed—certainly Texans were never ones to stop it, or even to slow it down. A good portion of the immigrants came to Texas in a hurry—and from the Spanish point of view, they got married in a hurry.

To add to the inconveniences of the scarcity of priests, the long distances to be traveled to make marriage arrangements and the fact that most of the immigrants were protestants, there was a fee of $25 charged for the ceremony in this money scarce country. Thus it is understandable that settlers made the best arrangement possible under the circumstances. Noah Smithwick described the condition:

"The father made a tour of the colonies occasionally when in need of funds. . . . But usually 'when a couple concluded to join their fortunes they forthwith repaired to the alcalde's office and had him draw up a bond to avail themselves of the priest's services whenever he came around; both parties signed the bond and went on their ways as man and wife.'"

This simple arrangement made divorce a simple proceeding also—avoiding the time and expense of Spanish legal red tape. If the couple changed their minds before the priest came around, they went to the alcalde, demanded the bond, tore it to pieces and went their free ways again.

Sometimes the couples had sizeable families by the time the priest finally came around. It was nothing unusual in those days for parents to be married by a priest in the presence of a family of children. Sometimes there were mass weddings, in which many couples assembled, for the convenience of the priest, to be married in one big wedding ceremony.

Orthodox settlers who were sticklers for form were often confused and uncomfortable with these arrangements. T. U. Taylor, in the Frontier Times of September, 1930, tells of such a couple: "John Litton and Sarah Standifer were married under the Mexican flag but Texas changed its political complexion so often that Sarah wanted to run no risk in regard to the legality of her marriage with John Litton and each new flag brought a new ceremony. . . . Five times they were married under five of the six flags that have waved over Texas."

The inconvenience caused by Spanish laws led to the adoption of some novel ceremonies. "Jumping the broomstick" was common. For this ritual the couple stood together, witnesses held the stick a foot or so above the floor or ground and the pair hopped over together. Usually this jump was made to the accompaniment of a song which served for the reading of the wedding vows. This was an old custom long practiced among the slaves in the South.

Even to this day, particularly among the Negro population in the sawmill towns which are in inconvenient distance from the courthouse, couples are sometimes married with a "sawmill" license—a ceremony which can be almost anything or nothing.

Long veils and long ceremonies were not common on the frontier. Even when an honest-to-goodness justice of the peace could be found, he usually had no time for orange blossoms and rice throwing. These are the words said to have been used by Judge Roy Bean in uniting couples in holy wedlock: "I, Roy Bean, Law West of the Pecos, by the authority vested in me by the Constitution and the laws of the State of Texas, do hereby pronounce you man and wife. And may God have mercy on your souls!"

Stanley Vestal, in his excellent book, "Short Grass Country," tells of a cowboy who fell in love with a nester's daughter who was willing to marry him, but insisted upon a proper wedding. There was no preacher within a day's ride. So the boys got together, organized, and elected one of their number justice of the peace. "In the cowboy camp there was no book but the brand book, but the J. P. was undaunted. Using the brand book as a Bible he improvised a ceremony to the satisfaction of all concerned. The cowboy 'put his brand' on his bride, and the two were 'hitched to run in double harness.'"

Settlers, particularly cowboys, were as practical in their speech as they were in their ceremonies. It was said of one newly wed cowboy: "Buck Smith has roped a heifer for life. He corralled her back East." One cowboy who married a girl from an adjoining ranch said: "All I had to do was drag her across a barbed wire fence."

Texans have always found means for their objectives. Certainly they were not to be denied on such a compelling matter as marriage.

Yoe Cagers Lose First District Game of 1953 Season To Eagles

The Yoemen lost their district game of the 1953 season by only two points at Georgetown this week. The Eagles won 48-46. This puts the Eagles in a tie for first place in district standing with the Yoemen.

The Eagles started off with a bang and were never behind during the entire game. At halftime the Eagles led 27-19. They scored eight points in the first quarter before the Yoemen were able to make a single point.

The Yoe boys put on last minute speed in an effort to by-pass the fletty Eagles but wehe 3 points shy of victory when the final gun sounded.

Joe Moehring, Eagles center led with 14 points. Charles Chance and Tommy Sharp, Eagle forwards got 12 and 9. For the Yoemen it was Ray Thompson on top with 13; Roman Marek got 12; Wilkerson, 10 and Bobby Biskup, 9.

The Yoellets took the initial game by a count of 23-18. They had the game pretty well under control most of the way. Yoeliet high scorers were Dean Weathersby with 7; Joe Lee Heitmann and Joe Michalka with 6 each. Bob Stried got 7 and Jimmy Atkins 6 for the Eagles.

The Yoemen meet the Belton Tigers here Tuesday night, February 10.

THE LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER HAS IMPOSSIBLE IDEA ON HOW THE GOVERNMENT CAN SAVE MONEY

Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Little River has an impossible idea this week, as you'll readily agree when you read his letter.

Dear editor:

There was sort of a touch of spring in the air out here the other afternoon, a bright sun was shining, the air was still and peaceful, heard a few birds cutting loose, calves were racing each other over the pasture, my bony cows were warmin their hides in the sun, and I was out wanderin aimlessly around speculating on whether eight bales of hay would get my cows through the rest of the cold spells this year, when I stumbled on a copy of a newspaper and since a man can speculate as well sitting down as walkin around I sat down and looked it over.

The first article I noticed raised my blood pressure. Accordin to it, the government is buildin a complete city out in the Nevada desert. It's gonna be complete from paved streets to tall buildings, houses, stores, water system, electricity, gas, etc. When they get it finished, they're gonna drop an atom bomb on it and study the results, see what type buildings stand up, which ones melt down, etc.

Now I don't like to criticize the government, but it seems to me this is another example of government waste and extravagance. Certainly it would be interesting to study first-hand the effects of an atom bomb on a city, but what I want to know is why go to the trouble and expense of buildin a new city when we got plenty of good ones already available?

Why build an expensive city in the Nevada desert when we got plenty of cities that would do just as well to blow up? What's the matter with Fort Worth? Or Dallas? Or Houston? Or San Antonio? Or if there is too much professional jealousy between these cities, how about say Eagle Pass? Or Texarkana? Or there must be hundreds of cities in the rest of the United States most of us never have heard of and if we tried hard enough could live without.

Of course, if there developed too much competition among cities for this honor, why couldn't the matter be settled by pickin out a city say in North Korea, or in China, or if the experts wracked their brains and couldn't think of one there, maybe there might be one somewhere in Russia.

I don't like to stand in the way of scientific progress, but I do like to see the government save money when it can.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Attempts To Break In Jewelry Stores Friday Night Fail

Attempts to break into two business firms in Cameron occurred some time Friday night.

Sheriff Carl Black reported that some one attempted to enter Wilson Credit Jewelers through the front doors. Sheriff Black said a prize bar was evidently used in an attempt to break the lock or prize the two doors apart.

Just what time this occurred the sheriff did not know. Victor Hannon, manager of the store reported the incident to Sheriff Black. When Hannon came to work, he discovered that some one had attempted to enter the place of business.

The lock on the front door of Sharpe's Jewelry was bent and also the wood part of the door facing was chipped away in an attempt to break into the store. Ray Burke told an employee at Sharpe's Jewelry, he saw the wood part of the door near the lock damaged. When the employee came to open up he discovered an attempt had been made to break into the establishment.

Not a single item was reported as missing from either store.

Kidnapped Man Is Son-In-Law Of Burlington Couple

Clovis Ray Russell who was forced to drive from Waco to Dermott, Texas by a slim gunman early this week is the son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bryant of Burlington. Mrs. Bryant was in the Herald office Wednesday and gave the following story:

Russell who lives on Route 2, West, was enroute to work at the Hill Printing Company Monday morning. He stopped for a red light at Eighth and Franklin in Waco. Russell said a boy about 20 asked him for a ride. Her son-in-law offered to take him a few blocks and hadn't gone more than a block when the youth pulled a gun on Russell.

The youth asked for Russell's billfold which he gave to him. He told Russell to drive on our Franklin and he did—right out Highway 84 on to Gatesville, Goldthwaite, Brownwood and Abilene.

Russell asked the youth several questions but the gunman replied "none of your business." They didn't stop to eat during the entire day. About four miles out of Dermott the youth told Russell to get out of the car. The gunman sped away in the car. Russell walked back to Dermott and called his father, C. W. Russell who also lives at West. This was around 9:30 a. m. The elder Russell called the Waco police. Mrs. Russell who had not heard from her husband all day had gone to the Russell's home.

Russell told his wife over the phone just what happened. She and her father-in-law left immediately for Dermott to get him.

A search is still underway for the gunman. He abandoned Russell's car at Post, Texas. The car was found late Monday night.

Draft Delinquents Decreased 17 Per Cent In Texas During 1952

Austin.—The number of draft delinquents in Texas during 1952 decreased by 17 per cent, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state selective director, said Thursday.

Consolidation of local board delinquency reports at state draft headquarters showed that local selective service boards had 796 delinquents on their rolls at the beginning of 1953, compared to 958 as of the beginning of 1952.

The number of boards having no delinquents decreased from 27 to 24 during the fourth quarter of 1952.

A delinquent is defined in selective service regulations as "a person required to be registered under the selective service law who fails or neglects to perform any duty required of him under provisions of the selective service law." Only a local board can declare a man delinquent.

Delinquents are subject to loss of certain privileges under the law, also to prosecution, penalty upon conviction ranging up to five years 000 fine.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Just a Little "Outdated"

Back in December we sent out our yearly calendar. It listed the last date for renewing drivers' licenses, and things like the dates for registering to vote, when the hunting and fishing seasons open — even suggested you note down the wife's birthday, too.

I figured dates like these were important to keep in mind—and this was a good way to do it. Unfortunately, it now turns out I never really paid close attention to my own calendar!

Not 'til today that is—so here I am not able to drive the car this weekend until I get my driver's license renewed on Monday!

From where I sit, I guess good advice, like charity, should begin at home. I'm always advising all of you to worry less about your neighbors (what they do, or say, and whether or not they should enjoy a temperate glass of beer) and pay more attention to whether you yourself are doing the right thing. Guess I'll "make a note" to follow my own formula!

Annual Farm Bureau Day Set For Feb. 19

Plans are being formulated for the big annual Milam County Farm Bureau Day at the Simon-George Memorial Hall, Thursday, Feb. 19 from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Arrangement committees have been working at full speed in an effort to complete necessary arrangements for the day which is the most outstanding event of the year for farm bureau members.

Mrs. Hugh Wimberly is general chairman of activities for the day and has been making arrangements and contacts for program material. A big day of fun, fellowship, well-balanced program of entertainment along with a number of talks by outstanding state and district farm bureau officials usually make up the agenda for the day.

Dr. John D. McNeely, who is connected with the Economics Department at A&M College will be the chief speaker on the program. He will discuss in general just what farm bureau stands for and its functions in carrying out its program, along with other highlighted information relative to farm bureau progress in recent years.

The pig and chicken contest awards will be made on the annual meeting day. Entries are now being received at the farm bureau office, Miss Adelaide Bickett, office secretary said.

Any boy or girl whose father is a member of the bureau is eligible to enter. Applications may be filled out at the office. Prizes include $15 in each division.

Winners of last year's awards will have to furnish prizes for this year's awards or funds equivalent thereof. The deadline date has been tentatively set for Tuesday, Feb. 17.

Dinner will be spread on the grounds just behind the hall at the noon hour. This is always one of the main attractions of the day.

Here is the program for the day: Call to order, Dennis Klein, president Milam County Farm Bureau; invocation, S. W. McClaren Jr., state director; introduction of master of ceremonies; B. O. Spivey, county agent of Lee county by President Klein; Yoe High tumbling team under the direction of Miss Dallye Young; music by Harvey Ford and accompanist; songs; Dr. John G. McNeely, agriculture economist at A&M College, principal.

Sets Milk Records

IF PRODUCTION is the answer to inflation, credit this Texas cow with a major blow against high prices.

Her name is Bobbie Rag Apple. She is pictured here with her owner, Edmund Campbell of South Wind Holstein Farms, Seguin, Texas.

Bobbie Rag Apple has just set two new national records for senior two-year-olds of her breed. She produced 19,803.7 pounds of milk in 305 days for a new mark. And in 365 days, she produced 21,950.1 pounds of milk, shattering a 20-year-old record.

She is the first Texas Holstein to set a national record. In addition, she broke the Texas butterfat record for Holsteins by producing 662.8 pounds in 305 days, and 738.9 pounds in a full year.

Campbell, at 32, is an outstanding dairy farmer. In addition to Bobbie Rag Apple, he owns eight other cows which have set state records. And he has transformed a worn-out 43-acre farm into a highly productive piece of land.

By use of clovers, grasses and fertilizers, plus irrigation from deep wells, he has built up a year-round pasture program which he supplements wisely by the use of a top-quality formula dairy feed.

Safe Conveyance For America's Meat

Believe it or not, conveyances for "meat on the hoof" must be just about as carefully built as those for human transportation. A steer or lamb is unable to sit in an upholstered seat. He is literally "on the hoof" and consequently, likely to be shaken about, bruised or even fatally injured if not carefully transported in vehicles particularly designed for the purpose.

Shown here is a Fruehauf deluxe livestock van, designed and built for fast, safe and economical transportation of livestock. It has a gentle torsion bar suspension system which eases road shock and eliminates dangerous body sway.

Farmers and livestock handlers, such as the Shadow Isle Angus Farm of Red Bank, New Jersey which owns the equipment shown, consider it a wise investment to utilize this "livestock limousine" to see that their cattle gets to market in the finest possible condition. These vehicles are as comfortable as a luxurious transcontinental bus.

The fourth annual Longhorn Recreation Laboratory will be held at the Christian Youth Foundation Camp near Athens from Feb. 15-22.

William Whitaker transacted business here Tuesday. He will read the Cameron Herald for another year.

FHA Schedules 13th Annual Meeting For February 17, at Baptist Church

The 13th annual Farm Ownership meeting for Milam county will be held Tuesday, Feb. 17, 1953 in the Educational Building of the First Baptist church, Cameron, it was announced today by Roy Wright, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration.

Approximately 25 families buying or improving their farms through FHA supervised credit are expected to attend.

Special features of the program will be the showing of colored slides taken on the 1952 Milam County Agricultural Tour sponsored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, at noon the group will spread basket lunch together, and a door prize of one set of cultivator sweeps furnished by courtesy of Stedman Tractor Company, Cameron, will be given away at the close of the meeting.

A summary and analysis of 1952 farm record books will be presented by Wright to show families where they have made in their farm business, and where they need to strengthen weaknesses in the year ahead.

The meeting will be educational in nature, Wright said, with major time being spent on family discussion of farm problems.

The annual meeting is one of FHA's methods of assisting farm families Wright explained, "and supplements the individual assistance we give borrower on their farms. We are proud of the accomplishments made by Milam county families cooperating in the FHA program, and have planned this event to help further their progress."

This American farmer knows how much his farm tractor means to him in keeping his farm plant in operation. The purchase of three or more $100 U. S. Defense Bonds a year will take care of the annual depreciation on most farm tractors. This means the farmer will have money on hand to buy a new tractor when he needs it. His money is not only earning interest, but is safe and accessible in case of farm or family emergencies. Start a farm machinery replacement plan. Invest in safe, dependable U. S. Defense Bonds.

MOTHER'S MARCH—

able but cooperation, help and assistance was greatly appreciated, Rev. Solomon said.

It was reported that last year's march netted $701.00, however it had been previously announced as $550, making this year's march $80 more than 1952.

Wiley Loughmiller reported that they received a check for $1,009 from Clyde Franklin and W. T. Pearson, Jr. of Rockdale for the amount collected in Rockdale. Of this amount $780 was received in the mother's march.

Franklin and Pearson were chairmen for that area.

From early reports and indications, it was believed that this year's county-wide collections would top last year's since Milam county had had more cases during 1952 than any previous year, Rev. Solomon said. Several sizable donations had come in through the special gift department.

Reports over the entire state are coming in that collections are heavier in some sections than last year reports, however some were on the decline.

Hazel Burks, chairman of the Negro workers reported her leaders collected around $25. C. L. Sadberry said that around $35 had been collected at the O. J. Thomas School.

GOOD FRIDAY—

C. Solomon, minister at First Presbyterian church; vice-president, Rev. H. M. Bowley, pastor at Cameron Gospel Tabernacle church; secretary, Rev. Horace Brown, pastor at First Christian church. JUDGE LESTER—by the fact that he was never defeated for office. Last year he decided not to run for re-election as Chief Justice because his health would not permit him to campaign. His friends offered to make the campaign for him in the 16 counties of the Tenth Judicial District, but he declined to let them do it. He completed his last term Dec. 31.

During the past few years Judge Lester had given up one of his favorite hobbies, raising turkeys.

He was elected justice of the peace in 1914, was elected county judge in 1920, after serving in the Army in World War I, and in 1925 was elected judge of 74th District court.

Judge Lester served as head of the county commissioners court during the period of McLennan county's road expansion, handling a great load of administrative work in connection with road building as well as trial work as judge of county court.

In October 1945, Judge Lester was appointed chief justice of the Tenth Court of Civil Appeals to replace Judge Ben H. Rice Jr. who was appointed to the Federal bench.

He was past master of Waco Lodge No. 92, A. F. and A. M., and a member of the First Baptist church.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Bessie Bird Burleson Lester; three daughters, Mrs. Jay Colvin of Houston, Mrs. Jesse N. Johnson of Waco, Mrs. Bobby Reese of Waco; five grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Sam Harrell of Jones Prairie; four brothers, Jim Lester of Houston, W. H. Lester of Waco, Ray Lester and Marlin Lester, both of Cameron, and two half-sisters, Mrs. Minta Hoffingsworth of Cameron and Mrs. Maude Rudder of Rosebud.

'CHUTES TO SAFETY—

a fire which broke out before the pilot and commanding officer, Lt. Col. Herman Gerick of Cameron, Texas, ordered the crew to bail out.

Wreckage from the plane, propelled by six piston and four jet engines, was spread over several miles of sparsely settled farm land. Nobody was hit.

The only casualty was Capt. Newton Benham Jr. of Dallas, Texas, who suffered a fractured ankle on landing.

The other bombers in the flight landed safely without incident.

The crippled B-36 flew for 30 miles after her crewmen abandoned her before exploding and plowing into farmland near La-chock. The plane ripped through many trees before coming to a halt. The woods caught fire, but firemen quickly brought the blaze under control. Three engines were found about a mile from the main wreckage.

J. P. Hollick, an attorney who lives near the scene, told newsmen:

"I heard a noise of a big plane obviously in difficulty. Looking out the window I saw it going down in circles. It was all lit up inside. It might have been the electric lights or it could have been on fire. Bits were dropping off, so the impression I had was that the house was being bombed. I heard an explosion while the plane was in the air."

The B-36 can carry a bomb load of 10 tons and has a range of 10,000 miles. The planes that completed the flight will remain here one week and then return to Carswell base. They left there at midnight last Sunday. Two missions of this type were flown here last year.

Rev. and Mrs. R. B. Baker visited with friends in the city early Monday morning. Rev. Baker is attending the Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. He is pastor at the Marlow Baptist church.

Margaret Horstmann is Complimented With Tea at Cameron Country Club

The Cameron Country Club was the scene of a tea, honoring Miss Margaret Horstmann, bride-elect of Jack Arlen Krueger of San Marcos. Miss Martha Black was hostess for the lovely affair.

Mrs. Carl C. Black, mother of the hostess greeted guests at the door. In the receiving line were Miss Black, the honoree, and Mrs. O. B. Horstmann, mother of the bride-elect.

The bride-elect's table was centered with an arrangement of pale pink carnations, pink and white candy-tuft entwined with pink hearts. A similar arrangement graced the mantel with pink candles in silver holders at either end. The table was covered with a white linen cloth. Miss Shirley Horstmann, sister of the bride-elect presided at the silver service, pouring coffee and tea. Mrs. Albert Frank Matula served pink cake squares. Nuts, mints and hearts were offered from the table. The Valentine motif was carried out also in the napkins with a heart between the names "Margaret and Jack" in pink and white, the bride-elect's chosen colors.

Miss Jane Henderson registered over two hundred guests. Others in the house party were Misses Sammy Dell Markham, Hortense Nabours and Mesdames Pat Gleason and Billy Peck, all wearing formal for the occasion.
